

VIRGINIANS SUPPORT GUN VIOLENCE PREVENTION POLICIES

A June, 2019 public opinion poll commissioned by Brady and conducted by Public Policy Polling surveyed registered voters in four districts across Virginia. The findings from this poll confirm that the majority of Virginians support gun violence prevention policies.

Banning military style semi-automatic assault weapons

Banning high capacity magazines that hold over 10 bullets

Allowing local jurisdictions to ban guns from public buildings

Extreme Risk Protection Order (ERPO) legislation*

*ERPO allows family members or law enforcement to ask a judge to temporarily suspend a person's access to guns if they have evidence that the person poses a significant threat to themselves or others.

Source: Public Policy Polling. Survey of 902 registered voters in four Virginia districts: SD 3, SD 7, SD 8, and HD 66. June 7-9, 2019.